

BARNUM & BAILEY'S CIRCUS, BIGGEST AND BEST IN WORLD HERE TOMORROW

That dear old institution, old, yet ever new, the circus—Barnum & Bailey's—comes to town tomorrow with a real circus—the circus of our boyhood and the meadow lot, the circus with red wagons and an army of clowns, and the women in fluffy skirts who ride at breakneck speed while the ringmaster pops the whip and tumblers fly through the air.

"Boys" who can still hark back to the old-time stunts with the water pail, and "girls" who in other days clung to their mothers in awe while bespangled performers flirted with death, can romp to the show grounds tomorrow and see the latest and best development of the circus idea of entertainment as carried out by this oldest and largest of circuses.

There are circuses and circuses, but there is only one Barnum & Bailey's. It has been self-styled "the greatest show on earth," and this year more than ever, it is confidently asserted, lives up to and beyond its trade-marked title more generously than ever before. Today the circus is exhibiting in Portland and long before the breakfast hour tomorrow the first of the four long trains is due to arrive. There will be but few sleepy heads among the youngsters. Kids that ordinarily kick upon getting up at a reasonable hour to do the morning chores will sleep with one eye open tonight and be on hand at the railroad yards early in the morning.

The first thing on the circus day schedule will be the parade at 10 o'clock in the morning, and it is promised to be a "whopper." As a banisher of melancholia the circus people say it will be superior to any liver pill.

Every stitch of the wardrobe was new this spring and there will be new features. Almost everything of any standing in the zoological line will be seen, either openly displayed or carefully concealed in gilded cages. Over a score of elephants will plod along, and there will be six bands of music in the two-mile long pageant of glittering splendor.

But it is under the "big top" at 2 and 5 o'clock p. m. that this thousand-sided miracle of the amusement world promises to make all sit up and take notice, for this circus goes on improving each year and burning up all the laudatory adjectives, until all the superlatives are exhausted. This season the circus is almost entirely new and commences with a gorgeous pageant descriptive of the Persian pageants of the Thousand and One Nights, enlisting the services of over 1,000 people, and a wealth of colorful wardrobe and trappings.

Following the glittering pageant will come the rapid and diverting succession of acrobatic acts given in three rings, four stages and the huge track. The elephants come first—the musical elephants who play brass instruments and have a whole bagful of new tricks.

Lupeta Perewa, who in her early childhood, shocked the natives of Mexico City with her love for the topmost branches of the tallest trees, will thrill by her exploits upon the flying trapeze, shooting like a comet through space at the very top of the tent. Swain's trained rats and cats and Lady Alice's trained pigeons and rats are new features.

Pallenberg's bears will ride bicycles and roller skates in a fashion to amaze onlookers, while Marcella's trained parrots, ravens macaws and cockatoos will be seen in performances unlike anything heretofore seen. The equestrian acts will offer the foremost champions and a new feature in this department will be the famous English Hannaford family of five people making their first American appearances. China sends three troupes of acrobats, gymnasts and jugglers who are adepts in their lines. Signor Bagonghi, the Italian midget comedy rider will convulse the audience with his laughable antics upon a horse. Ella Bradna presents a trained animal display, while "The Act Beautiful" provides the medium for the introduction of over a score of horses, dogs and ponies—all white in color—in a series of beautiful poses. Moran and Wisner in a unique act in which they throw hats about as boomerangs are thrown; Wall's equestrian dogs and baboons; the Henri Fillis troupe of dancing horses and girls; the Belford and Picchiani troupes of wonder-acrobats and the Siegrist-bilbon troupe are also feature acts upon a program dominated by newness and novelty.

Another item on the bill will introduce over a score of western ranch champion ropers and riders in frontier sports and pastimes utterly unlike previous exhibitions of like character.

There will be innumerable aerial, acrobatic, equestrian numbers and all presented by experts. Over two score clowns will furnish fun in huge chunks and for over two hours there will be incessant activity and surprises. The menagerie will be large and varied and the entire circus touches a high water mark of superlative newness and excellence never before even remotely approached.

Tickets may be bought throughout the day at Patton's Stationery store, at exactly the same prices charged upon the grounds.

LITTLE PEASANT GIRL TELLS PITIFUL STORY

Tilled the Fields Until Married—Husband Proves To Be White Slaver

San Francisco, Sept. 8.—Bertha Sainnot, a pretty French peasant girl from Normandy, with the roses gone from her cheeks, sobbed out the story of her shame to the federal court today where Charles Husson, an Apache of Paris, is being tried for white slavery.

"I wore wooden shoes and tilled the fields behind horses in Normandy before I met Husson," said the girl through an interpreter.

"Then the war came and my father and brothers went to the front as soldiers. In Paris they were calling for peasant women to take men's places. They wanted peasant women because we are stronger and used to hard work."

"In Paris I met Husson. I did not know he was an Apache. I married him. Then he took me to New York."

"In America everything was strange. Husson told me to go out into the streets and find men and to bring the money to him. When I protested he beat me. The first night I walked the streets crying. I did not approach any men. Husson would not give me anything to eat that night. He sent me out again the next day. For six days and nights I starved—on half a loaf of bread a day. Then I became so hungry that I sinned to live."

"Husson brought me to San Francisco. He starved me again when I rebelled against going on the streets."

"Don't let them find out back in France what I have come to for my old mother would die from the shame of it. Just let me go now after this trial is over. I want to hide my shame in America."

Sept. 8.—Robert A. Gardner, of Chicago, defending his title in the semi-final round of the United States amateur golf championship here today, led Jesse Guilford, the Boston long distance slugger four up in the first 18 holes.

Chief Evans, United States open champion, was kept busy by D. Clarke Corkran, Baltimore, but ended the first 18 holes 3 up.

Gardner continued his steady play during the afternoon round and ended the match on the 32nd green, beating Guilford 5 up and 4 to play.

BLOOD STAINED SHIRT

in-law. Mrs. Lyons gave it to Mrs. James Thompson, who is also the accused man's sister-in-law. Thompson lived with his brother and sister-in-law before the killings.

There was a break in this line of testimony when Mrs. Lyons refused to say whether the shirt in evidence was the one she received from Mrs. Clark and passed along to Mrs. Thompson. She could not identify it.

P. X. Johnson, one of the most important prosecution witnesses, identified Thompson as the man he saw talking to Ristman, the jitney driver in Portland the night before the murder. On cross-examination he admitted he might be mistaken in this identification.

TO RE-INSTATE EMPLOYEES

Coal Miners Strike May Be Averted

Kansas City, Mo., Sept. 8.—The threatened strike of coal miners of the southwest may be averted.

With the vacancy caused by the withdrawal of the Oklahoma operators filled by the appointment of W. J. Jenkins of St. Louis, head of the Western Coal and Mining company, the sub-committee of the joint conference resumed deliberations today on the one disputed point dealing with the hiring of men.

The operators submitted new proposals covering the disagreement. The sub-committee was in session all morning considering this proposition and resumed its conference after lunch. Members of the committee refused to reveal the operators' proposals. Report of the sub-committee is not expected today.

Santa Fe to Take Over Wells-Fargo Express

Topeka, Kan., Sept. 8.—The Santa Fe plans to go into the express business, according to reports in circulation here today from reliable sources that the railroad will take over all business done on its system and auxiliary lines by the Wells Fargo Express company.

Official announcement of the annexation of the Wells Fargo business, it was said, will come in the next few weeks. If the negotiations go through as reported this will be the first step of its kind in the history of American railroads.

A part of the offices necessary to take care of the express business would be in Topeka with additional offices in Chicago, Galveston and LaJunta, it was said.

WOULD BE SHERIFF IS UNDER ARREST

Charged with Impersonating An Officer and Also with Extortion

Seattle, Wash., Sept. 8.—John W. Roberts, head of a private detective agency here, and a candidate for sheriff, is under arrest today following his indictment today by the federal grand jury on charge of impersonating a government officer and extortion.

Roberts is alleged to have conspired with L. F. Coyne, now under arrest in El Paso, Texas, for white slavery, to extort $2,000 from Clifford Yarborough, a Tennessee under threat of exposing him to the federal authorities here last March.

Yarborough, with Eugenia Mary Yarborough, a 16 year old mulatto girl, alleged by the federal officers to be his illegitimate daughter, were held by Roberts and Coyne, according to evidence United States District Attorney Clay Allen presented to the jury, under guard in the Perry hotel here for two days, while they threatened to cause Yarborough's arrest for white slavery in connection with his bringing the girl here from Tennessee.

On the third day, March 13, it is alleged Yarborough paid $2,000, the price of silence, to Coyne, while Roberts waited in the next room.

After the money was paid Roberts and Coyne are alleged to have gone to the train when the girl was started for Indiana. The same night, it is charged, Coyne accompanied Yarborough to Vancouver, B. C., where he took a check for Yarborough's trunk and disappeared after telling Yarborough to remain out of the United States at least a year.

Eugenia Yarborough communicated her troubles to a member of the crew of the train that was carrying her to Indiana. The trainman telegraphed the police at Chicago to investigate.

The girl is alleged to have told the story that caused the arrest of Coyne at El Paso on a white slavery charge.
